* The investor is liable for CGT on any transactions in the units of the underlying unit trusts within the wrap funds. Compulsory investments are not subject to CGT. Performance is calculated using net returns (after fees) of the underlying unit trusts, and quoted excluding wrap fund fees. Performance quoted is pre-tax. Fund performance numbers shown are for a notional portfolio and do not reflect the actual performance of the client invested in the wrap fund due to timing differences of investments or disinvestments of the client. Benchmark returns for CPI are based on actual published returns and an estimated one month return for the month of the report date. ASISA Benchmark returns are the ASISA returns available as at the time of reporting.

Manager Comment

The US labour market improved, with more jobs added in November than October, while the unemployment rate was little changed over the same period. Although preliminary figures showed the UK economy to have grown, the actual figures showed that there was no growth for the economy, posing doubts on the leadership of the current UK administration. The European Central Bank (ECB) lowered its key interest rates at its December meeting after a slowing inflation rate and to support the eurozone economy. This was also to moderate the degree of monetary policy restriction. The US Federal Reserve (US Fed) made its third rate cut for the year in December. Data showed that South Africa's inflation edged higher in November but remains below the South African Reserve Bank (SARB)'s 3-6% target range.

Developed market (DM) equities had a poor end to the year with the MSCI World Index ending negatively at -2.61% month-on-month (m/m) in dollars. However, equity investors enjoyed a good year of returns compared with the monthly figure since the MSCI World Index returned 18.67% y/y. The Magnificent Seven defied the December gloom, performing well enough to push the Nasdaq 100 into positive territory for the month. Emerging market (EM) stocks fared better than their DM peers in December, with the MSCI EM Index ending at -0.09% m/m, but significantly underperformed their DM peers over a longer period at 8.02% y/y. Global bonds were in negative territory, at -2.15% m/m, as was global property, at -6.93% m/m, both in dollars. The FTSE Index was negative at -1.16% m/m in pounds, along with the S&P 500 which ended negatively at -2.39% m/m in dollars. The Dow Jones Index ended the month with a -5.13% loss in dollars. However, both the Euro Stoxx 50 and the Nikkei posted gains of 1.95% m/m in euros and 4.52% m/m in yen terms respectively.

South African equity markets suffered a third consecutive monthly decline with the FTSE/JSE All Share Index ending at -0.29% m/m in rand terms. The index takes a bit of the shine off an otherwise strong year for the local market. JSE-listed stocks with earnings geared predominantly towards the local economy had a marginally positive December, ending the year strongly. Industrials were in positive territory at 1.37% m/m; however, Resources and Financials were in negative territory at -5.43% and -1.24% m/m respectively. Property was positive for the month at 0.41%. Cash ended in positive territory for the month, at 0.66%. The FTSE/JSE All Bond Index was negative at -0.35% m/m. Bonds of 1-3 years and bonds of 3-7 years were both in positive territory at 0.47% and 0.20% m/m respectively. Bonds of 7-12 years and bonds of 12 years and above were both in negative territory at -0.24% and -0.94% m/m respectively. The rand struggled in December, ending the month at -4.27%, -2.36% and -2.85% against the US dollar, euro and pound respectively.
